CHINESE TONG WAR USHERS IN NEW YEAR

SAN FRANCISCO, February 16.—Guns of Chinese tongmen ushered in a new year of tongs coincident with the Chinese new year today, leaving three dead and five wounded in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Stockton. Two Chinese merchants were killed in Los Angeles. Another was wounded there. At San Francisco one man was killed and three wounded. At Stockton one man was shot three times in the head, but it was said he will live.

In San Francisco the feud broke loose in a room at 924 Grant avenue. According to stories told police, six men in the room, taking advantage of the crackle of fire crackers and roar of the celebration, drew revolvers and began firing at each other.

Go Fong staggered from the building with a smoking revolver in his hand and fell dead. Four bullet wounds were found in his body.

Police hurried to the scene and found three wounded men on the floor of the room. In the Los Angeles Chinatown district last night Lem Goey Fong was shot dead behind the counter of his store.

Shao Ho Long was killed as he sat at a card game. At another resort Low Hain was shot through the leg.

BODY OF WOMAN IS BURIED SECRETLY

CHICAGO, February 16.—The body of Mrs. Nancy M. Chamberlain, 91 years old, whose mysterious disappearance from the home of her daughter and grand-daughter in an artists' colony, has been under investigation by the police, was found early today, buried in the back yard of the apartment on Fifty-seventh street, where the family lived.

Two days of questioning by police brought from Mrs. Ruth Townsend, the aged woman's daughter, and Miss Marian Townsend, her grand-daughter, only cryptic answers, such as "mother is happy in love."

Early today Miss Townsend confessed that the aged woman died of natural causes last June, and had been buried by the two women in a flower bed in their back yard in which the aged woman had carefully tended geranium plants.

After poverty caused the two women to bury the body secretly, Miss Townsend confessed to Police Master Mary Ryan. One by one the prison, possessions of the family were sold, until only the grand piano, on which Marian developed an unusual musical ability, remained.

"We had neither coffin or burial permit," said Miss Townsend. "We covered up the body and placed the geraniums over the improvised grave. To us she is not dead, just buried. Mother and I swore never to say anything about it because we were happy in love."

Mrs. Chamberlain, her daughter, Mrs. Townsend, and Miss Marian Townsend, had been well known in musical circles in the city, and until they left the southside artists' colony last summer their studio was the scene of many social affairs. Friends said that after the aged woman's disappearance Miss Townsend ceased to be engaged, withdrew from social activities and with her source of income gone, gradually became desolate.

Davis To Name 4 New Members

COLUMBUS, O., February 16.—Governor Davis was considering today the appointment of four new members of the state board of administration and is expected to announce the appointments this week.

When a new board is appointed the governor indicated in a statement issued last night that there would be further revelations concerning the purchase of a site for a new institution for the feeble minded in Crawford county. The governor is to confer with leading business men of the state tomorrow relative to reorganization of the board of administration. He has asked prominent business men of the state to serve on the board until a reorganization is completed.

State Auditor Tracy will ask Attorney General Price today to advise him concerning the demand made upon him yesterday for payment of $25,000, authorized by the board of administration for the purchase of the Crawford county site. It is expected that the land owners will bring suit against Tracy to compel him to pay the bill.

Farmer Robbed Of $1,200 In Cash

MARION, O., February 16.—Throwing a log in the road in front of the automobile of M. C. Miller, farmer, living north of Marion, while he was driving to Marion on the Kenton road late last night, two masked bandits at the point of revolvers commanded Miller to step out of his automobile and relieved him of $1,200.

Miller had secured the money in Scottown by cashing notes and had intended to pay it to the indebtedness of his farm in Marion today.

He was three and a half miles west of Marion when the robbery occurred.

CABINET LIST SHOWS THREE POSTS STILL UNDECIDED

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., February 16.—As the list stood today, with navy, commerce and labor vacant, it was understood to contemplate appointments as follows:

Charles Evans Hughes, of New York, for secretary of state.

John Weeks, of Massachusetts, for secretary of war.

Andrew Mellon, of Pennsylvania, for secretary of the treasury.

Will H. Hays, of Indiana, for postmaster general.

Harry M. Daugherty, of Ohio, for attorney general.

Henry Wallace, of Iowa, for secretary of agriculture.

A. B. Fall, of New Mexico, for secretary of the interior.

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA., February 16.—As President-elect Harding closed his conferences with the ranking leaders of his party today, it was indicated that completion of the cabinet slate of the coming administration waited only on definite selections for the portfolios of navy, commerce and labor.

By all of those in close touch with the situation, it was conceded, however, that these selections might not only lead to considerable delay, but might also involve some shifting of the assignments already more or less definitely fixed. It was considered unlikely that any announcements would be made until a day or two before inauguration.

Turn Machine Guns On Gang Of Burglars But Miss Them

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 16.—Several volleys of machine gun bullets were fired at a gang of burglars at E. 80th street and St. Clair avenue early today by Sergeant Moffett, in charge of a "flying squadron" of police in an automobile equipped with a machine gun. It was the first time the gun was used in action by the police.

Although the burglars were only two hundred feet from the policemen, they escaped. Telephone and electric light poles in the vicinity were rattled.

The machine gun was used in an attempt to capture three men who had forced the front door of the dry goods store of Philip Kalish and had carried $2,000 worth of merchandise to a yard in the rear preparatory to carrying it away.

M'GANNON IS GRILLED, STORY IS UNSHAKEN

CLEVELAND, O., February 16.—Judge William H. McGannon, charged with second degree murder in connection with the slaying of Harold C. Kagy on the morning of May 3, on the witness stand today, repeated for the third time his story of the happenings preceding the fatal shooting of Kagy.

He repeated almost word for word the testimony he gave on the stand during his first trial and previous to that when he testified in the trial of John W. Joyce, tried and acquitted of the killing of Kagy.

A grilling cross examination that lasted for more than an hour failed to break down his testimony. He denied that he was present at the scene of the shooting of Kagy and denied that he attempted to bribe Miss Mary E. Neely, a state's witness, "to keep her mouth shut."

Throughout his stay on the witness stand, Judge McGannon answered every question in a slow, deliberate, confident manner. Only once did he raise his voice and that was when his chief counsel, W. H. Boyd, asked him point blank if he fired the shot that killed Kagy.

"No, of course I did not," the judge replied in a loud voice.

When court closed at noon, the defense had just started examination of its last witness, Harry Durnacher, who testified he had seen McGannon walking on East Ninth street, several blocks from the scene of the shooting, shortly before 12:30 a. m., the time Kagy was shot.

The state this afternoon will put three rebuttal witnesses on the stand. Before court adjourns this afternoon all the testimony will have been heard. Closing arguments will begin tomorrow morning and the case will go to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

Asquith Ready To Attack The King's Speech

LONDON, February 16.—Opposition leaders in the house of commons were prepared at the opening of today's session to begin debate on the speech from the throne delivered by King George yesterday. Former Premier Robert Clynes, former food controller, gave indication late yesterday that the king's address was "unsatisfactory in many respects, Mr. Asquith declaring it was "notable for its omissions."

J. H. Thomas, one of the labor leaders in the house of commons, took special exception to the part of the king's speech relative to Ireland. It was expected that the coming conference of allied and German delegates in this city, the revision of the treaty of Sevres, Mesopotamia, Ireland and domestic affairs would be discussed today or tomorrow in the house.

Lord Robert Cecil, who has joined the opposition, will on Friday introduce an amendment to the financial bills before parliament, in which economy will be urged. On Monday an independent liberal amendment ensuring the Irish administration, will be laid before the house.

CONDUCTS ONE-MAN FILIBUSTER FOR WEEKS IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 16.—War time expenditures and the profound modification of the country's economic system make it imperative, Governor Harding informed congress today in the annual report of the federal reserve board, that "the utmost care be taken to conserve our credit and preserve the basis of our prosperity" to avoid the extreme conditions prevailing in other countries.

"Upon the United States in a large measure," the governor declared, "the solvency and financial stability of many other countries depend. This fact greatly increases the responsibility which rests upon the American banking system and calls for the exercise of sound judgment and the strict observance of sound financial and economic principles."

In readjustment of business, the country, Governor Harding asserted, is generally recognized as having passed the crisis and in looking to the future, "a spirit of greater confidence prevails." As the year closed, he said, there were many indications that business generally was beginning to adjust itself to new conditions and "was preparing to proceed on a sounder and saner basis."

"Because of the accumulation of foreign commodities, however, for which there is no market," Governor Harding continued, "countries which have been sending us their surplus products find they have nothing marketable with which to pay for their imports from us."

"We find ourselves therefore," he maintained, "with a large export trade which is being paid for only in part by a great portion of the world."

"We are therefore brought face to face," Governor Harding continued, "with the problems of how we can best extend long time credits to European countries in order to enable them to reconstruct their industries and how we can extend credit to other countries in order to enable them also to make shipments to Europe which otherwise would be made to the United States and glut our domestic market."

One man who was with the president during the peace negotiations tells a story of a dramatic incident that occurred at a luncheon given to President Wilson by the members of the French chamber of deputies which corresponds to the American House of Representatives.

Mr. Wilson fully expected that the affair would be altogether social and was not prepared to talk shop. The president of the French chamber was seated next to Mr. Wilson and his attempts to get Mr. Wilson to commit himself in private conversation to some plan for the pooling of war debts was received with such a frown of disapproval and with such emphatic remarks that persons at the table related the incident later as an indication that so far as Mr. Wilson was concerned there was no hope of getting him to agree to any cancellation of war debts.

It is true that the proposal was never officially made to cancel war debts but at least a score of different suggestions and plans were laid informally before Mr. Wilson by French, Italian and British experts all presuming to arrange for a pooling of assets and liabilities but in reality designed to relieve Europe of much of her financial obligation to the United States.

Wilson Became Suspicious

Mr. Wilson grew so sensitive, indeed so suspicious of these plans, that the newspaper correspondents who were present at the plenary conference in February 1919, will not forget with what abruptness Mr. Wilson interrupted the proceedings to inquire what was the purpose of the special financial section which was to be a part of the organization of the league of nations.

The proposal was made as an amendment to the general declaration of principles which had just been adopted pledging all the countries present to a league of nations and premier Clemenceau read it so rapidly and such perfunctory fashion that the president showed signs of uneasiness and asked Mr. Clemenceau where the suggestion had originated and what its purpose was. The French premier pointed out that the powers of the special committee would be only advisory and that it would not interfere with the freedom of action of individual nations.

Wilson Resented Proposals Of Europeans To Cancel Or Lighten War Debts

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Doubting President Wilson from attack for some of his attitudes at the peace conference may not be fashionable but in the interest of fair play the alleged promise of Mr. Wilson to secure the cancellation of the allied war debt have no hesitancy in saying that far from welcoming the suggestions made informally to him, he actually resented the idea.

One man who was with the president during the peace negotiations tells a story of a dramatic incident that occurred at a luncheon given to President Wilson by the members of the French chamber of deputies which corresponds to the American House of Representatives.

Mr. Wilson fully expected that the affair would be altogether social and was not prepared to talk shop. House Wants Accounting From Wilson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Over the protest of Democratic members, who charged it was a move to defame and malign President Wilson in the closing days of his administration, the house late yesterday adopted by a vote of 211 to 79 a resolution calling upon the president for an itemized statement showing disbursements and allotments of the $70,000,000 war funds voted by congress.

Introduced by Representative Gould (Republican, New York), the resolution was reported by Chairman Gould, of the appropriations committee, who replying to Democratic attacks precipitated by references to expenditures by the American peace commission at Paris, declared no injustice to the president was intended in the resolution and that if any such construction was placed upon it the Democrats were responsible through attempting to create an impression that "there was something crooked in the money spending."

OXYGEN IS BEING GIVEN TO AID TENOR

NEW YORK, February 16.—The condition of Enrico Caruso, opera star, confined to his apartment here with a severe heart attack, was pronounced this afternoon, after a consultation of his physicians, as slightly improved. No further official bulletins will be issued from his bedside until tonight, when another consultation will be held, it was announced.

Bruto Zinato, the tenor's secretary, informed newspaper men that the doctors had found Caruso's condition favorable after a slight rally this morning.

"He is showing some improvement," said Zinato.

NEW YORK, February 16.—Oxygen today was being administered to Enrico Caruso, world famous tenor, who is waging a fight against death after last night having been stricken with a heart attack that caused his physicians to fear he would succumb before dawn.

Shortly before 11 o'clock more oxygen tanks were taken to the singer's apartments in the Hotel Vanderbilt, where the tenor is lying surrounded by relatives and comrades in the Metropolitan Opera Company.

A consultation of doctors has been called.

An official bulletin issued by Caruso's physicians at 11:30 o'clock said:

"Caruso has rallied from a severe relapse. His condition is not satisfactory, but there is some improvement."

NEW YORK, February 16.—The condition of Enrico Caruso, tenor, who suffered a grave heart attack late last night, was reported to be slightly improved early today. Attending physicians admitted, however, that the famous singer was "desperately ill. He had been improving steadily from a severe attack of pleurisy and his relapse was entirely unexpected."

The sacrament of extreme unction was administered to him at 1:25 o'clock this morning. Caruso at intervals throughout the night and early morning hours lapsed into semi-consciousness, but rallied slightly after ministrations of oxygen and heart stimulants.

Fully aware of his condition, Caruso directed the sending of a telegram to his son, Enrico, Jr., who is a student at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Indiana. He then expressed to his wife a desire to see his friends and all the singers with whom he had been associated in the Metropolitan Opera Company, to tell them "good-bye."

Caruso first was stricken early in December while singing in the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Despite a ruptured blood vessel in his throat, he sang until his audience learned of the accident and protested against his offer to continue.

It was compelled, as a result of this occurrence, to cancel a date at the Metropolitan a short time after, but appeared on Christmas eve, singing "Beneath the Mistletoe." His apparent ease in the role led to the belief that he had fully recovered.

Shortly after 8:30 o'clock this morning, it was announced at Caruso's apartment, that he was "holding his own." He had rallied considerably, it was said, but his condition was still very serious.

Death Calls Squire Allen

Squire Richard Allen of Rushtown died Tuesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Corn Mullins, Cambridge, O., according to a telegram received today by Mrs. Howard Duncan of McDermott.

Last September Mr. Allen suffered a stroke of paralysis in his left side. His condition was serious for some time and in November he recovered sufficiently to go to the home of his daughter at Cambridge. He spent all his young life in that community and about thirty years ago moved to Rush township. He served as constable of that township about twelve years and for the last four years had been justice of the peace. THREE SMART LITTLE HATS FROM FIRST SPRING SHOWINGS

These three small chapeaux chosen at random from the early spring displays show many of the predominant tendencies of the new millinery modes. The hat at the left is a rather high-crowned tailored model. It is made of orange-colored organza embroidered in brown. The embroidery forms a border on the edge of the brim and a design on the high crown. The hat at the left is one of the very popular stitched felt hats which are being worn now for sports wear. These hats come in all brilliant new shades to match sweaters and sports suits. This one is made of green ribbon placed high over the crown and finished in a tailored bow. The ribbon has a neat edge of silver threads. Perhaps the most fashionable or newest hat is the one in the center, for it shows the use of ribbon, which is the keynote of the present millinery tendencies. The hat is a small sailor shape of brown straw with a rather high crown. It follows the mode for ribbon so ardently that the hat is almost lost behind the bow and long streamers of string colored satin ribbon. Ribbon was used in just this fashion on many of the newer hats for present moment wear.

Colonel Jackson Arnold, commanding the West Virginia state police, ordered a detachment of troopers to Williamson early today.

Extraordinary efforts were made by Judge R. D. Bailey, of the circuit court, and counsel for both sides in the Matewan trials, to have the troops kept here until the jury rendered its verdict.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Feb. 16.—Sid Hatfield, chief of the Matewan police and one of the 19 defendants on trial here for alleged participation in the Matewan battle last May, had in his possession shortly after the fight the pocketbook of Albert C. Youth Claims He Doesn't Know Who Sold Him Booze

Declaring that he did not know the name of the man from whom he secured his liquor supply, Basil Cornutte, young man, living at 2217 Galda street, arrested by the police late Tuesday night for intoxication, was sent back to the city jail by Judge Small Wednesday afternoon until his recollection improves on that score.

Cornutte, who said he was 20 years old, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness when brought into court and after stating that he secured a pint of moonshine from a man who he accused him on Lawson street, paying $4 for the fluid, his memory failed him completely as to the identity of the man who sold him the booze.

Several hours after buying the moonshine the young man was overcome by the effects of the liquor and was picked up by Patrolman Payne on the Galda street esplanade.

St. Mary High School Again Is The Winner

The essay contest of the Morning Sun, announcement of which was made last Sunday, resulted in a victory for Saint Mary's, Jaymond Flannigan receiving first, Thaddeus Lachy, second, and Louise Glocker, sixth prize. Only these three entered the contest from the school.

It will be remembered that Saint Mary's also captured the first prize of this district in the Army Essay contest of last year. The school is justly proud of the distinction won.

In the athletic field the school's teams are in class one. Of the three basketball leagues organized among the scouts of this city, each contains a team from troop seventeen of Saint Mary's the only one, to our knowledge, that entered a team in each league. These teams have met with signal success. Up to date none of the teams has met defeat this year.

Last Friday's games resulted in an unusual victory for them won a triple leader when their Boy Scout, Junior and Basketball teams all came out victors.

The Valentine dance given by the Order of the Eastern Star at the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening was attended by one hundred and fifty couples, the Lauderbach Orchestra furnishing the music for the evening.

Many of the guests played games of progressive euchre and five hundred. The committee in charge included Mrs. L. E. Pymble, Mrs. Earl Hannan, Mrs. Fred Lilly, Mrs. Charles Massa, Mrs. Albert Uhl, Mrs. Oscar Drummer, Messrs. Oscar Bremer, William Schilling, Earl Brandel, George Koerner and Salem Shaw.

The chapter was honored by the presence of Mrs. Fannie Dunn, Worthy Matron, and Mr. J. A. Cryder, Worthy Patron, of the Chillicothe Chapter, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Evans of Chillicothe.

A short business meeting was held before the dance, during which Mr. Cryder and Mrs. Dunn extended an invitation to the local chapter to be present at a meeting of the Chillicothe chapter in March.

Mrs. C. E. Cook of Third street will go to Cincinnati Friday for a few days' visit with relatives.

MRS. W. F. BAKER, of Milwaukie, Oregon, who says she has been restored to perfect health by Tanlac after having suffered for twenty years. Her statement is remarkable.

"For the last twenty years I have suffered from stomach trouble in its worst form. I was in misery all the time. If I took a drink of coffee or milk or even water, it would cause belching and gas. In fact, absolutely nothing would digest in my stomach. I always had an awful burning sensation in the pit of my stomach. I believe I have taken almost a wagon load of soda for stomach trouble. I would have to take it night and day. Gas would blow me up so badly I couldn't fasten my clothes. At times my heart would palpitate and flutter so badly I would nearly smother and I would have to gasp for breath. In fact, I thought I had heart trouble."

"I was very fond of cheese and the least bite would throw me right into spasms. I was also very fond of onions, but they would upset me terribly."

"My whole system was out of shape and I was also bothered with rheumatism and neuritis. Pains in my arms and other points were almost unbearable. I had to carry one of my arms in a sling and couldn't raise it up in my head. My hands would swell up and for a long time I was in just an awful condition."

"I told my husband I guessed I would have to give up and die, as the doctors' medicines and other things I took didn't do me any good. Then he got me some Tanlac and said I had to take it. Well, before I finished one bottle, I found the things I would eat did not bother me so much. I kept gradually getting better, and finally after taking five bottles, my trouble was entirely relieved. I can now eat onions, cheese or anything I want. In fact, I am in perfect health in every way."

Mr. neuritis and rheumatism have also left me. I know that five dollars' worth of Tanlac has done me more good than a hundred dollars' worth of other medicines. I will sing the praise of Tanlac as long as I live."

The above remarkable statement was made by Mrs. W. F. Baker, whose address is Milwaukie, Oregon, R. F. D. No. 2.

Tanlac is sold in Portsmouth by the Fisher and Streich Pharmacy and by the leading druggists in every town.

What Your Kidneys—Should Do For You

The kidneys are really filters, finely organized for their work of cleansing and purifying the blood, selecting and throwing out waste products which would act as poisons if permitted to remain in the system. When your kidneys are out of order, the impurities are not removed and remain to poison the system, causing backache, swollen or stiff joints, rheumatic pains, puffiness under the eyes, floating specks, biliousness, weakness and pale, waxy, dry skin.

"I suffered with kidney trouble and have taken many kinds of medicine without getting relief. I used to have severe pains across my back and felt miserable and all tired out, but after taking Foley Kidney Pills I am well. In fact I have not been bothered with kidney trouble since taking the pills." — Mrs. C. J. Ellis, 505 8th Ave., Sioux Falls, S. D.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

are made from the purest and finest medicines, accepted as the most helpful for kidney trouble and bladder ailments. They cost far more to make than the average kidney pills, for the high standard of their making is never deviated from, no matter how the cost of ingredients advances.

Don't You Know It Cannot Be Done?

Rheumatism Cannot Be Reached by Liniments and Lotions

Even if you have been fortunate enough to have some respite from the pains of Rheumatism during the past few months, you may as well be prepared for the annual struggle with the disease just as soon as cold weather returns.

No need to look for a cure for Rheumatism in the liniment bottle. The cause of this torturing disease is far below the surface of the skin, and requires thorough treatment.

If Rheumatism could be cured by the use of liniments, lotions and similar locally applied treatment, it would be a simple matter to conquer this disabling and painful disease. For liniment is one of the most plentiful articles obtainable.

But have you ever known of a single case that was cured by such treatment? Your own experience should prove to you that the best you can expect from such methods is some temporary relief from the agonizing pains. If you want to drive the pains away for good, and be freed from the shackles of the disease, you must realize that you must get rid of the cause of the disease, and not merely its symptoms.

Rheumatism is a sturdy foe.

and it never uses gentle methods with its victims. If the disease were confined to the surface there might be some logic in expecting relief from its clutches by rubbing with liniments and lotions. But a disease that can cause so much pain and suffering is deep-seated and has its source far below the surface of the skin.

The only sensible treatment from which you can expect results is a remedy that goes deep down into the blood supply, and kills the germs that cause the disease.

S. S. S. is a wonderful blood remedy, and is the logical treatment for Rheumatism, because it promptly permeates the entire blood supply, and searches out and kills the disease germs. You can take S. S. S. with the assurance that you are not experimenting, for this fine old remedy has been in constant use for more than fifty years, during which time it has been giving splendid results. So you owe it to yourself to take S. S. S. without delay, and discontinue the use of local treatment that can do you no good.

By eliminating from the system the tiny germs that cause Rheumatism, you will be delighted to find that you have at last freed yourself from the shackles of the disease.

Write our medical department for literature and full advice about your own case. Address: Chief Medical Adviser, 38 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Work Of Ohio Fish And Game Commission Will Be Shown In Movies Of C. of C. Meeting

The Ohio Fish and Game motion pictures to be shown at the U. H. church tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the C. of C. forum meeting, starting at six o'clock, have been produced by the State Bureau of Fish and Game for the purpose of depicting to the general public the extensive and constructive work of that department in propagating and conserving the wild life of Ohio.

The motion pictures portray a lesson of clean sportsmanship and are intended to interest and educate the general public in the more sportsmanlike methods of taking fish and game, as well as to show every phase of the work of the Fish and Game Department. The pictures were planned and directed by A. C. Baxter, Chief of the Bureau, and J. W. Stuber, assistant chief, who supervised the work in the field. These two men will lecture with the pictures tomorrow night. Mr. Stuber arrived here today, and is looking at various sites for a game preserve in this section.

A glance at the subjects of the various reels is enough to cause anyone with a spark of sporting blood to make it his business to be present tomorrow evening. The titles of the different reels are as follows:

"What the Game Protectors Do," "Fish Farming on Lake Erie," "Making Ohio a Fisherman's Paradise," "A Buckeye Coon Hunt," "When Ducks Decoy in Ohio," "More Game For Ohio Sportsmen," "King Neck Pleasant Hunting," "Clearing Up Badly Polluted Streams," and "Good Sportsmanship."

Hon. J. S. Myers of Akron, chairman of the fish and game committee of the department of agriculture, has been invited to attend the meeting here tomorrow night. Mr. Myers had shown much interest in the fish and game work since assuming the chairmanship of the committee.

Matter-of-Fact Genius.

You can best approach genius by adding value to whatever you touch. No task should be allowed to pass your hands without receiving benefit from contact with you. Prolonging fidelity and plodding accuracy never fail to bless whatever they touch. Men who work for the pay may sight things. Men who take pride in their output have regard to the product, knowing that the pay is bound to come when the job reflects the character of the man behind it. The fact is that men who really bear the stamp of genius think nothing about it. They are busy working their names into well-done tasks.—Exchange.

YES, GIRLS

Everybody is using and talking about the word "ballet," the liquid that it instantly beautifies the complexion, makes a soft, rosy-white skin everyone "Just loves to touch." Over five hundred thousand girls and women are using it. It's a real beautifier, that's what it is. Try it today. At toilet counters everywhere. Your money back if you don't like it. —Adv.

Ballet, a performance in which dancing, music and pantomime are involved. Originally derived from the (Sicilian) Greek word, meaning to dance. The word has passed through the Latin, "ballare," to the Italian, "ballare" and "ballata," to the French "ballet," and to the Old English, "ballette," and to "ballet." It signifies, "to dance, sing, rejoice," and thus incorporates three modern words, "ballet, ball and ballad." Through gradual changes in amusements of different ages, the meaning of the first two words has at length become limited to dancing, and the third, "ballad," to singing. The present acceptance of the word "ballet," is a theatrical representation in which a story is told by gesture, accompanied by music which should be characterized by stronger emphasis than would be employed with the voice.

Piano numbers were given by Hannah Reider and Garnet Taylor, songs by Edna Laidley and Ruth Taylor and recitations by Howard Cooper.

Hannah Reider, eighth and Chillicothe streets, will be the hostess of the next meeting, March 17.

All children of the Bigelow Children's Home and Foreign Mission Band are asked to attend the meeting Saturday afternoon at the home of Elizabeth Ogier on Walker street.

Mrs. Theo. Doty, who has been ill at the Schirman Hospital the past three weeks, is much improved and has been removed to her home on Franklin avenue.

Mrs. C. F. Hagen of 715 Campbell avenue has returned from Norfolk, where she visited her sister, Mrs. J. C. Cole.

On last Monday evening the members and friends of the Junior B. X. P. U. of the First Baptist church spent a very delightful evening with the ladies at the home for aged women. A short program, including songs, readings and instrumental music, was given by the Juniors. Later in the evening the large red valentine box was opened and the ladies and children were loaded with valentines. When these had been distributed, each lady at the home was given a box, decorated with hearts and cupid, full of home-made candy, and a basket of fruit was left in the dining-room by the Juniors. After singing a farewell song, the Juniors departed, all happy because of having brought cheer to these dear ladies.

What is MOTHER'S FRIEND

Simply and tersely stated, MOTHER'S FRIEND is just exactly what the name implies—a friend and help to mothers.

It has been made and sold for more than half a century. If it did not possess the value claimed for it, MOTHER'S FRIEND could not possibly have remained on the market. For only that which is really worth while and beneficial can survive.

The mothers who appreciate MOTHER'S FRIEND the most, and who are loudest in their praise of it, are those who unfortunately did not use it with their first baby, and who, through its use with the second one, were able to fully realize the relief it gave them.

DIDN'T EVEN NEED THE DOCTOR

"Dear Sirs: I am willing and anxious to tell any mother about MOTHER'S FRIEND. It did me so much good that I wouldn't be without it if it cost $50 a bottle. With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I only had a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor, because I wasn't very sick and only sick about ten or fifteen minutes.

"Any mother can write me and I will only be too glad to give her advice. Yours truly,"

BILLY WHISKER

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Mr. West opened the gate and told his man which goat to drive out, but as Nannie ran bleating through the bars, Billy pushed by the man and ran by her side.

"Here, Jake, I didn't want the Billy-goat. I only wanted that white Nannie."

"I know it, sir, but he would come out."

"Violet, he is a fine big goat, the largest here, and see what long horns he has. Why! he is strong enough to pull your cart all by himself!"

"I know he is, but I am afraid of coming toward me," and Violet climbed up so high on the fence to get out of Billy's reach that she was in danger of falling over into the yard where the goats were.

Billy, on getting through the gate, thought he would try to make friends with Violet and then perhaps she would like him as well as Nannie for a pet. As soon as he saw that she was afraid, he stopped and kept close to Nannie, hoping that she would get over her fright.

"I guess I'm not afraid of him," Violet said after a moment's hesitation. "He seems so nice to my pretty, white Nannie." So she climbed down from the fence and went toward them.

Both goats stood still for fear of frightening her, and so she came up and began patting Nannie on the head and saying:

"You poor, tired little Nannie. Did the cars hang you around dreadfully, and did the men poke you with a long stick with a ball in the end of it when they drove you into a cattle pen to get a drink or something to eat on the way here? I just hate those men with their long, cruel sticks, so I do. Mamma says I must not hate any one, but I don't know what else to call the bad feeling I have inside of me when I think of them hurting poor animals that can't get out of their way. Here, you big Billy, don't chew my hair," she called out, for Billy had taken just a nibble at her pretty long locks, never dreaming that she would feel it.

"Papa, the big goat thinks my hair is some kind of long grass, I guess, for he is trying to eat it."

"Maybe he is only trying to make you understand that he is hungry."

"I guess that is so. I never thought of it. Come with me, you two darlings, and I will give you the biggest supper you ever had in your life," and she put a rope round Nannie's neck and led her towards the house with Billy closely following.

"Mamma! Oh, mamma! Look at my two pets," she cried as she came within hearing distance of the house.

In answer to her call, a black mammy appeared in the doorway of the kitchen, with a red bandana handkerchief on her head and a big white apron around her ample waist.

"I want some supper for my new pets, and Mamma, please give them a big one, for they are very hungry 'cause they have just come from the cars."

"Deed, Honey, if you goes and brings any no pets round heah, I shan't have a ting let in de house to eat. Dem hired men eats like pigs and done eat every ting on dar plates 'til dey look as if they had been ficked."

"Dat, Mamma! You don't want to see the poor things starve, do you?"

"No, I don't dat, Honey, but Ise already gib supper to two cats, five kittens and one dog."

"Oh, Mamma, dear! Don't be so cross, but look and see if you can't find a cold potato or two and some warm gravy. I am sure my pets would be thankful for it."

"Yah! Yah! Yah!" laughed Mamma until her fat sides shook. Heah dat chile talk. Potatoes and gravy fo' goats! Why, mess yo' kind heah, Honey, goats done eat dat kind of stuff. Dey eat carrots, turnips and sich."

(Tomorrow we'll tell more of Violet and the new home of the goats.)

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Troubles Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distended gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Eucalyptus Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and heart right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no souring or pain. Eucalyptus Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, because it is tasteless and the form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion—Adv.

Permanent Tax Program Must Be Completed First, Says Legislative Leaders

COLUMBUS, O., February 16.—Three of the state administration's taxation bills were expected to come to a vote in the house late today provided the house taxation committee, which meets this morning, can agree on amendments to meet certain objections made by Cleveland real estate interests.

The Griswold debt limitation proposals and the Taft bill to give temporary relief to taxing districts for a period of three years were scheduled to come to a vote this afternoon.

The governor's special committee on taxation, headed by L. J. Tuber, master of the state senate, was in session today working out a program for permanent relief to follow the passage of the Taft and Griswold proposals.

Legislative leaders have frowned on the bill's proposing various other forms of taxation until the permanent tax program is completed.

As a consequence, it is said, the Miller bill to levy a one percent tax on all coal, oil, gas and other minerals is to be tabled and that another bill by Senator Miller to tax transportation, transfer and storage warehouses as public utilities is to share a like fate.

Tax Program Has Precedence

The taxation program is to have precedence over everything else in the assembly until it is completed.

The senate yesterday defeated a bill to increase the pay of jurors from Senator Now, who will succeed Mr. Hayes, according to present plans, is an active politician. He is particularly experienced in national committee affairs, having served as acting chairman during several years of the Taft administration after chairman Frank H. Hitchcock had gone into the Taft cabinet as Postmaster General and had thereby set a precedent. In addition to being a clever man at politics, Senator Now is one of Mr. Harding's closest personal friends. Mr. Harding has the highest possible regard for Senator Now and would like to do something for him but Mr. Now is desirous of running for the Senate again two years from now. It is this latter fact alone which may prevent his taking the national chairmanship. Mr. Now may feel that the power which would accrue to him as national chairman would be an unfair advantage over any rival who desires to contest the nomination with him. One of these contestants is former Senator Albert Beveridge. Mr. Harding would like to compose the Indiana situation by sending Mr. Beveridge away to some diplomatic post, but it is understood the latter will not accept such a solution of the matter.

Mr. Now was the president before him of Senator Mark Hanna, who resigned the national chairmanship long after he had become a member of the Senate.

Senator New

personally would like to see it obliterated before he gives up the chairmanship. The time is so short, however, between now and the fourth of March, it would seem impossible for Mr. Hayes to succeed. If the deficit is not made up by the fourth of March, Mr. Upham unquestionably will be called upon to go out and raise the money as he sees fit, which means simply he would raise the limit of contributions from $1,000 to something like $5,000 or $10,000. Mr. Upham knows there are plenty of men in the Republican party willing to give large sums who are not looking for the slightest advantage to themselves. As a matter of fact the poorer men of the party feel they are doing more than their share when they are called upon to put up $1,000 and the man worth fifty millions is asked for no more.

Need Old Organization

Mr. Hayes expresses confidence the deficit will be raised in the manner he has outlined and he is trying to get together virtually the same organization which operated prior to the Coaling Monkeys of the old means committee which operated under Col. Wm. Rogers Thompson, have been summoned to New York and asked to do their share in getting the money together.

proposals that would lighten the financial burdens of Europe. Suggestions for the cancellation of the allied war debt become so numerous that American peace commissioners found it necessary in their informal conversations with the Europeans to make clear two points—first, that the United States has no means responsible for any debts contracted or anything done in the war period or April 1917, and second, that America could not be in justice to her own people who had borne the money through "liberty bonds," except any suggestion even remotely affecting the original obligations.

Wm. E. S. Wright Limited.

The European governments, however, sharing to some extent the popular conceptions abroad of America's limited wealth insisted upon urging a cancellation or pooling of war debts. The proposals made public within the last fortnight are part of the same misunderstanding of America's position though it has been made plain by Re-diffusion and League of Nations from the very beginning. Speeches made by such men as James M. Beck have often been wrongly interpreted as the American viewpoint. While only a few Americans of prominence have urged the cancellation of the war debt, their utterances have been displayed in European newspapers and have to some extent encouraged the hope.

But the European governments know that not only did President Wilson reject the suggestion at Paris but that Secretary McAdoo, Secretary Glass and Secretary Houston have each in their turn told European diplomats in unequivocal terms that the American people expected European debtors to make good their promises to pay.

Second Hand Coffin For Sale

"Now that I have been resurrected from the grave to which my stomach trouble was fast leading me and for which event I had made preparations even to having bought my coffin, May's Wonderful Remedy has made a new man of me and I feel as good as ever in my life, after having been at the point of death half a dozen times with acute indigestion and colic attacks." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

Roses in Many Lands.

Those who associate the rose prominently with England, are surprised to find mountains covered with roses in China, bushes of them; or to see tall trees upholstered in their arms climbing roses, whose lanky stems, having reached the summit, burst into flower, and roll down the other side in wave upon wave of blossom. In winter, they are beautiful, covered with orange or scarlet, bush-shaped "hips." But though wild roses are far more varied and abundant in the mountains of Asia than they are in England, still England has its roses and perennials; and is not the rose garden surely all its very own?

BEWARE OF CLOGGED KIDNEYS

Use Solvax to stimulate their action and get the poisons out of your blood. Often the violent headache comes from poisons in the blood that congested in the kidneys has failed to pass out through the bladder. General distressing in the legs and mental depression are some of the symptoms apt to follow. Your best medicine to relieve this condition is a remedy called Solvax, sold by Warner Bros., and other leading druggists on the liberal plan that you can try it and if it does not give satisfactory results they will refund the price paid for it. For the reason that your kidneys themselves do not act simply because the general disturbances and other symptoms are not recognized or due to clogged kidneys. Try Solvax. It cannot harm you and may be exactly what you needed to feel well again.—Adv.

To Make Reports

At the meeting of the city council tonight annual reports will be made by Safety Director St. Straus, City Electrician Albert Gerlach and Fire Chief Leedom. Other important matters will also be considered.

Councilmen Hold Two Jobs; May Held Up Bond Issue

MARTON, O., February 16.—Because two of Marion's city councilmen hold two jobs with the city, a $1,500,000 bond issue for the construction of a sewer and hospital may be temporarily held up, Marion officials believe. State law, they said, prevents one job with the city, consequently they believe that a bond issue voted by a council whose members number and holding more than one city position would be illegal.

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN MOOSE.

The Alces Macchilis or elk, one variety of which with palmetto antlers, found in North America, is commonly known as the moose, lives in the northern portions of both the eastern and western hemispheres. There is a difference, many naturalists claim, between the European and American species, although they approach each other in general appearance in certain cases. To be exactly precise, it would not be perfectly correct to say that what we know as the moose is found in Scandinavia, although he has very near relatives there.

After hearing from all participants in a fight staged near Second and Madison streets Monday night and which grew out of the passing of alleged "starring" valentines, Judge Small in Municipal court Tuesday made a finding that the blame for the row was equally divided and the honors of the bout "even up," which led the court to dismiss the defendants with a warning. Those involved in the rumpus were Mrs. Emma McGraw and Mrs. Rosa Glenn, sisters, and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Weeks and their young daughter, Grace; Norman Fleming and William Brooks. Mrs. Weeks received a black eye during the melee. Mrs. Glenn admitting striking her with a brick.

Read what a Doctor, a Nurse and a Texan say about LUNGARDIA

Wonderful for Coughs, Colds, Difficult Breathing, Bronchitis, Etc.

The doctor says: "Since I have been dispensing LUNGARDIA, I have found it my main standby; time and again where I have prescribed it they tell me they feel better after the very first dose, and they will come or send back and say they want some more of that same kind of medicine I gave them before."

The nurse says: "I have personally used LUNGARDIA for deep seated coughs and colds, the first time during the influenza epidemic, when my condition was approaching a serious stage. The results were so swift, so effective, and so lasting that I deem it a duty to recommend it to be in all homes as a preventative and emergency medicine."

The above statement from Mrs. E. Conderhase, having charge for the past five years of the obstetrical department of one of the largest hospitals of the entire South and Middle West, is likewise one of the best known in her profession.

A. G. Cook of Frankston, Texas, says: "I suffered with a cough as the result of influenza from October to April. I was unable to work from October 20th to May 15th. One bottle of LUNGARDIA completely restored me to health and to my work. Anyone can write me for verification. I can not say too much in its praise."

These letters, together with thousands of others, come unolicited. "Guard your lungs with LUNGARDIA." Coughs and colds are mere playthings for LUNGARDIA; unequalled for cough, put it to the test. For sale at your favorite store, 50c to $1.25 a bottle.—Adv.

Keep Your Blood in Good Condition and You Throw Off Disease

PAY ATTENTION TO YOUR HEALTH

No Need To Take Chances With It. Pepto-Mangan Makes Rich, Red Blood

When you first feel a tired, all-gone feeling and look pale, your blood is losing quality. Weak, impoverished blood has no power to fight disease. It takes red blood to keep you well.

If you keep your blood in good condition it will fight off disease. You will not be such an easy prey to long and expensive sicknesses. With this blood you take chances every day.

There's no need doing that. You can take Pepto-Mangan and build up rich, red blood. With red blood you are able to win in the fight against prevailing diseases. Try Pepto-Mangan. It comes in tablet or liquid form. Take either kind. The tablet has the same medicinal value as the liquid. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," is on the package.—Advertisement.

WOMEN CONTINUALLY OVERDO

This applies to all women, regardless of caste or color. The ambitious girl striving for school honors, the overworked housewife, the shop girl, girls in offices and stores, and the society woman, all climb too high, overtax their strength, and what follows? Nervous prostration, sleeplessness, headache, and the inevitable weakness and ailments peculiar to their sex soon develop, which unless checked bring on more serious conditions, and which often lead to operations. An efficient restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is now recognized from coast to coast as a standard remedy for women's ills.—Adv.

Now Playing the Eastland Theatre With Tremendous Success—Vitagraph's Sensational Production, "Dead Men Tell No Tales," the Most Thrilling Presentation in the History of the Theatre—Also Playing Harold Lloyd Comedy—Luke McLuke's Filmosophy and Blackford, Baritone Soloist.

A—Overture—Eastland Orchestra.
B—Feature—Vitagraph presents "Dead Men Tell No Tales."

E—Blackford, the Silver-Tongued Baritone Soloist.

Realism is the keynote of E. W. Hornung's success as a writer of extraordinary and sensational stories. He possesses the faculty of making the unusual convincing. That quality is the basis of the tremendous success of his novel, "Dead Men Tell No Tales," which now has been put in motion pictures, as a Tom Terriss all-star special production and will be shown at the Eastland tonight.

Something more than imagination, style and ability was required to make a picture drama of "Dead Men Tell No Tales," retaining the quality of realism which made the book one of the most popular ever written. The scenes showing the burning of a ship at sea and its destruction by an explosion of gunpowder, presented formidable difficulties.

In making the fire scenes, with the panic of the passengers and crew, strikingly realistic, the woodwork of the old vessel actually caught fire again and again and was allowed to burn each time until the completion of a scene. More than once the flames almost gained the upper hand before they could be extinguished with chemicals. Every member of the enormous company setting roles in "Dead Men Tell No Tales" was in danger of death many times during the filming of the fire scenes and the escape from the vessel in lifeboats which had been rendered unseaworthy.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even stery, itching eczema can be quickly overcome by applying Menthio-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Menthio-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Adv.

He was the brains of the money-changers.

He, a society leader, bargained the lives of men and women for gold.

And now his fiance knew all.

His traffic in the Chinese palace, as King of the Underworld. The girl, weak for silks and jewels, whom he enticed into his snare of poppy smoke.

The boy, from the slums with a prison past, who wanted to go straight, whom he "framed" to do his will.

And the boy's sad-eyed mother whose heart he broke.

Now she knew why the reporter had cornered him as the "man behind the ring."

Who are the Money-Changers? you ask. They are the "lunar circle" who lurk in the gloom of every city. Amid incense smoke and poppy fumes, they

Legion Team To Meet Classy Five

Tomorrow night in the high school gym the basketball five representing the American Legion here will battle with the Kappa Sigma Pi team of Chillicothe, the game to be started at eight o'clock sharp.

The local Legion quintet is one of the best in this part of the state and should give the Kappa Sigma five a stiff battle. At Ashland two weeks ago the Portsmouth five won a close and exciting game but last Saturday night when they dropped a fast game to South Webster on a floor that proved a puzzle to the locals.

Tonight the Legion five will practice in the high school gym from 6:30 until 8 o'clock and a basketball players in the local post are urged to be out to uniform to give the regular practice.

The regulars so far have been Fortner and Blake forwards, Ben Selby and Pearce centers with Captain Pat Sheppard, Marsh and Matthews as guards. The Legion has a wealth of material and will have a number of men in uniform tomorrow night.

The Kappa Sigma Pi's have played and won seven games in Ross county so far this season and are coming to new fields to find grapple. Among the players on the fraternity team are Ralph Hobensack, Bob Dailley, Lin and Quin Wilson, Hartman, Harold and Howard Rice.

This will be the first appearance of the Legion five on the home floor and a big crowd should be on hand to support the ex-soldier lads who are doing everything possible to put the local Post of the Legion on the map.

Yes, Just Watch 'Em Pile In

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Revival of the basketball players' bus has found favor with the American Association managers and the plan may be adopted for use throughout the circuit at the closing session of the A. A. club owners' meeting today. Various other routine league matters remain to be disposed of, but the suggestion, made in a recent statement by Manager Johnny Evers, of the Cubs, favoring the use of the old-time carry-all to take the

Sheppard May Meet Serra

The Portsmouth Athletic Club last night wired Manager Frank Batsche of Cincinnati if he could bring his star pitcher, Jack Sheppard, here to fight Joe Serra on February 25. If Batsche accepts, Sheppard will meet Serra in a decision bout of ten rounds here. And these boys are real lightweights and if matched should put up a red hot battle. Bring 'em on.

Do you believe in 13 being unlucky? Well, it certainly proved the jinx of the Wholesalers. They had won twelve straight games but as soon as they had won the thirteenth, their luck left them and they lost the middle game to the Volunteers, last night, the scores being 21-5, 19-21 and 21-15. Even in defeat the Wholesalers played together like a well-oiled machine, no one particularly starting. Baseman played his usual good game and Gillen and Riggles starred also. The Volunteers are feeling quite chummy now that they have a whined. The scoring was started by the Selects with Captain Baseman taking the leading role as usual. The hunky center had the jump on his opponent and got the ball off nine times out of ten which helped materially in keeping the ball in the Portsmouth end of the gym. The shooting of the locals proved more accurate than that of the visitors, the long shots of the Selects going true to their mark in the majority of attempts at goal. Edwards led in this kind of point getting with Baseman and Doll trailing close behind him. Captain Baseman was the man on the job when it came to putting the ball in the basket while the fight for the ball was centered within a few inches of the goal.

The college team had heard of Baseman and had no doubt been told to guard the slim center well for there were always two or more visitors around him to keep him from getting his mits on the oval.

The star for the visitors was Center Haws, who proved the best shot for the college five. His shots were slow and fast and in the last half got three balls through the hoop that caused the local guards to give him their best attention. Captain Land, forward for the visitors, did not show any real basketball playing at any time during the contest, the brunt of the playing falling into the hands of Haws, Lantz and Westfall, who played a stellar game at guard.

The only regrettable feature of the game was the smallness of the crowd. The lineup was:

SELECTS BEAT COLLEGIANS

Morris Harvey College of Barboursville, W. Va., had won fourteen straight victories up until they met the Selects in the local high school gym last night, the Selects being the first quintet this season to put a dent in their clean record for the season by winning a hotly contested game, 35 to 21.

The contest was exciting throughout, the Selects playing a five man defensive that was hard to break

ENTRIES CLOSE FOR BIG DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 16.—Entries for the Kentucky derby for three year olds at a mile and a quarter, closed last night. The prospects are, it was stated at Churchill Downs, Louisville headquarters of the Kentucky Jockey Club, that between 125 and 150 owners would enter thoroughbreds. The number, it was stated, could not be determined, inasmuch as the already received had not been tabulated. Moreover, it was said, entries, sent through the mails, which were post-marked prior to midnight last night, would be accepted, probably occasioning further delay in announcing the number.

The entry fee is $25, with an additional $250 to start.

The derby this year will carry $50,000 in added money. The owner of the horse finishing second will receive $10,000, the third $5,000 and the fourth $2,000. The estimated value to the winner will be between $35,000 and $40,000.

AMORTIZATION OR CANCELLATION

THESE are both big words and just at present they are both looming big in the affairs of mankind.
In a manner the fortunes of the whole world in general and that of many nations hang upon their application.
In common acceptance they apply to the financial relations of the United States to their associates of the world war.
As is known of all the service of America in that conflict was not any more distinctive at arms than it was in the monetary assistance she gave.
All of the Allies, actually engaged in the contest, with the exception of Portugal became her debtors for loans advanced.
The problem of winning the war was not altogether a matter of scheming to gain battles, its most trying feature was providing the financial means to carry on the fight. To this last purpose America, England and France contributed to a sort of "jack pot," each one bolstering up the weaker comrade nations with supplies and cash.
England "chipped" in the far greater portion, until America came in and then the chief burden of carrying the monetary load was thrown upon her because England could not safely go much further.
In all the United States loaned her associates something like ten billion dollars, a little more than half being to England alone, this country besides guaranteeing advances to other combatants, whose credit was next to nothing.
A suggestion has been made, assumably from England, that the United States amortize their loans, while it is an actual fact that some nation has proposed to our government that all war loans, as between the nations themselves be canceled and held for naught.
It has been more than broadly intimated that this latter plan was suggested by England too. It is not likely. Her Allies owe England far more than she owes the United States and she would lose more by cancellation than she would gain, unless her debtors go bankrupt and repudiate, a catastrophe that is not yet apparent.
However, none of the debtors are able to pay either in whole or in considerable part, under existing conditions; none of them should wish to repudiate an honorable and just obligation. It would be folly for the United States to demand then that the obligations to her, which are in the shape of demand notes, be discharged at once.
Wherefore, summing up the whole situation, the wisdom and justice of it, amortization seems to be the only right and sensible policy to pursue.
This would mean the changing of the demand debt and the loans generally between the nations into a funded, or bonded debt, extending either in part, or whole, over a long period of years and drawing a fair interest.

LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT

A contemporary thus discourses on a truth that has come within the experience of all:
Everyone is moved to sympathy by the sight of intense physical pain, deep grief, or great misfortune of whatever kind. We never know how loving or how numerous our friends are until trouble comes. But in God's merciful providence deep grief comes seldom; and it must be admitted that, dear as sympathy is to a broken heart, no words but God's can heal it.
On the other hand the little annoyances of life thrust themselves into every day, into almost every hour, and toward them sympathy is really helpful. It is they, more often than sorrow, that wear away our patience. There is something bracing in real trouble; but it is hard to find our best courage face to face with a very little one.
If we forget something, and in consequence must retrace our steps at the end of a long and wearisome day it will not help matters if some one exclaims: "How could you be so careless!" If, instead, she were to say kindly: "It's too bad! And you have been busy all day, and are tired," we would probably laugh a little, and pleasantly reply: "O, I can rest later. It's all my own fault for being so careless."
How much happier this world would be, if in the home circle—where, after all, the happiness of our lives is made or marred—we would remember the value of sympathy in little annoyances, and not say it all for the great sorrows before which it is so powerless!

THE SILVER LINING

THE country is in a period of protracted dullness. One seldom hears the old familiar cry of hard times, though.
That is because under the wise provisions of the federal reserve system—just one of the good things the Wilson administration has given the country—panics are not a thing made over night, not a thing to occur at all unless the whole financial and commercial systems become rotten all the way through.
Still there is undeniably a fact that business is largely in distress and hardship beginning to be rather widespread. And while such conditions are regrettable they are not solely an irrevocable misfortune. One effect is to check up the nation in its mad career of governmental and individual profligacy, while it may mean prosperity on a sounder basis, as well put by a writer on economics in the following article:
"It is assumed by some that there can be no real prosperity during a period of declining prices. But this is a wrong assumption. It looks like a paradox, but greater real prosperity can exist during a long period of declining costs than during a long period of boom—not prosperity for speculators necessarily, but prosperity for producers. Deflation, such as we are now in and have ahead of us, is a factor making for prosperity. The restoration of the price level to 1914 or below will mean an advance of the purchasing value of the dollar to the level of 1914 and above.

The necessity for doing business under more direct competitive conditions and on smaller margins of profit, makes for efficiency in every direction. With the elimination of easy speculative profits, men get down to work and produce; and it is efficient production that builds up civilized countries—not speculation. It is easily possible that we may be in for ten years or more of declining commodity prices, declining costs and wages, and increasing purchasing power of the dollar. After the Civil War (except for temporary booms and interruptions, prices declined for fourteen years; after the Napoleonic wars ending in 1815, English commodity prices declined for thirty years."

Government Gold

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 16.—A more impressive storehouse for the nation's gold is asked by the Secretary of the Treasury.
Our treasury building has the reputation of being the most closely and completely guarded building in the world. The regions about its vaults bristle with automatic alarms. A regiment of watchmen is always on the alert. But the vault, itself, in which our gold and silver securities are stored was built years ago. It was the strongest that could be constructed then, but it could be reinforced and made more secure now.
And this is a very good time to construct a new vault and retransfer the old one, Secretary Houston avers, because the old vault is unusually empty. During the war India needed silver and we melted 265,000,000 silver dollars into bars and shipped them to her. This made a big hole in the mountain of gold in the treasury and sub-treasury vaults, so that if repair work were done now on the treasury vault, there would not be the difficulty of removing the contents of a packed vault to a safe place and later bringing it back.
Another reason why a larger, stronger vault is needed is also being impressed on congress. That is that the nine sub-treasures are being abolished and a large part of the gold and silver reserve held by them will have to be stored here. Besides this, the money which they have been using to conduct business—some $50,000,000—will be released to the government, and will probably all be brought to the treasury, where an assistant secretary of the treasury says, it is much needed. The building held by the sub-treasures is to go to the mints and assay offices scattered over the country, where it can be stored until needed for conversion into coin.
Safest of Safes
The vault which the treasury department wants is to cost $2,000,000, and is to be the last word in safety. It is to be a three-story structure in the treasury building court. The sub-basement, where a vault is already in existence under the court, will be strengthened and used for storage of securities not in constant use. The basement floor will be a more accessible vault for coin and notes and securities, and the surface story will contain offices.
The bill providing for this structure is now before the house committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. As this committee will have to approve the building before the committee on appropriations can consider putting up the money. No action has been taken by the public buildings committee but it is considered likely that the erection of the vault will be authorized.
Imagine thirteen billion dollars worth of money and securities under one roof, and you get an idea of what the strong gray walls of the treasury building hide. And every penny of it has to be accounted for. The treasurer of the United States is bonded for its safety. If a thief should manage to make way with a bag of government gold the treasurer would be held responsible unless congress took action to stay prosecution proceedings.
But stealing the treasurer's gold is one stunt that professional thieves realize is beyond them. About the nearest that any one has come actually to getting away with treasury money was the case of one of the men who are employed to destroy old bills. You may remember that there were three of these men, and that one for a time contrived to stick some of the best of the worn money into his pockets when the other two were not looking.
That was a very unusual situation. In most of the important places of the treasury even the mints are guarded. And while one man will have the key or the combination to open an outer door, another has to come to open the inner door.
Counting a Nation's Coin
Because the treasurer is responsible for the contents of the vaults, when he resigns, as Mr. Burke did last month, there has to be a recounting of the treasury stores. This time, some 25 or 30 persons were detailed to the vault to make the count and for 16 days they did nothing but check up on coin, bullion, notes, and securities. The total they found in the building was $13,553,819,826.36 2/3.

This does not represent all the government's money. Washington is considered sufficiently far back from the coast to be a safe place for federal vaults, but even so, the government does not put all of its eggs into one basket. There are the mints and the assay offices and the federal reserve banks.
The sub-treasures, too, were a part of the system of scattering instead of concentrating public funds. When they were established, the sub-treasures undoubtedly were needed. Transportation of currency over long distances was uncertain and dangerous, and in a country as large as ours so much transportation of gold and silver would have been a serious drag on all finance. Then there was an early law that the public moneys could not be deposited in banks, and the sub-treasures provided a legal place of deposits. This law has long ago been altered, so the federal reserve banks can take the place of the sub-treasures as depositories for government funds.

Soft Salaries Slashed
In fact since the federal reserve banks have been established it has become more and more apparent that these banks could perform nearly all the functions detailed to the sub-treasures, and only the unsettled conditions due to the war have delayed the transfer of business and duties until now.
A further, minor, objection to the sub-treasure organization has been that the heads of the nine sub-treasures were appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate, and there, many people claimed, their activity ceased. The House sub-committee on appropriations disposed of these assistant treasurers of the United States by the following dialogue:
Representative Wood: "If I were abolishing the assistant treasurers it would not be because of anything touching the persons now occupying these positions, but because of their absolute uselessness as functionaries."
Representative Davis: "What do they do?"
Representative Wood: "Draw their salaries."
Representative Watson: "As a matter of fact, are their salaries not sent to them?"
A representative of the Treasury Department objected to this harsh summary of the duties of the sub-treasure heads, and held that the good ones found something to do to keep busy.
The committee finally decided to do away with the sub-treasures anyway. The clerks were provided for by transfers to other offices, but the bill left the assistant treasurers to shift for themselves at a saving to the government of about $50,000 a year.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

—THE W. G. SIBLEY SERVICE, GALLIPOLIS, OHIO

A valentine is a misfire sent or a sweetheart chosen, on St. Valentine's Day. One may judge about how hard-boiled he is, or how far out of all sentimental reckoning he has drifted, by considering which he would prefer—a love misfire, a sweetheart, or a $1,000 bond, or a 100 share stock certificate, or a fat check. Alas!

A Columbus paper thinks Gen. Dawes has put Uncle Joe Cannon out of the running as a cuss. Not so; Uncle Joe's profanity is blood-curdling, frappe, chili-promoting malediction. Gen. Dawes' brand of the stalling, hot-dam sort that crackles like loose electricity. We've heard 'em both.

The woman's page with no cure for homesickness on it is a barren ideal and utter failure.

Offensive Marriage Customs
California is shocked to learn of the systematic importation of Armenian girls who are sold to the highest bidders as "brides" for rich American planters. The suspicion that these marriages are not what they should be is general. Whether they turn happily or not the sale of girls cannot be tolerated even with their consent, ignorant as they are of the personal liberty America guarantees to all under the flag of freedom.
The world is still far from right in its treatment of women. Here, as a rule, the young woman makes her own choice of a mate, under the divine law of natural attraction and love. In some countries the parents select husbands for their daughters; in others, women continue to be chattels sold to the highest bidder.
Marriage under civil law is an evolution, one of many advances toward the ideal which enlightened society has grown into. In our present civilization we get a high valuation on modesty and chastity in women at least; and public sentiment, both by law and public opinion, all women who lapse from virtue. But there are many places on the globe where modesty has not yet developed and a sense of delicacy is unknown. In them polygamy and poly-andry still exist, sentiment is dormant, and the family, as we know it, does not exist.

In China, Japan, Persia and India, as well as many islands, marriage customs are offensive to our conceptions of a woman's natural rights. The influence of the white races has established monogamy where white men rule, but many years must pass before women everywhere are emancipated from conjugal slavery of many varying kinds.

Trees and Birds

The tree is one of the most faithful friends of man. Its substance shelters him from storm, yields him heat in winter and shades his path in summer. He uses it in many forms for his pleasure and convenience. The violin he plays, the table he eats from; the newspaper he reads, the chair he sits on, all spring from the useful wood of trees. We are wasting our forests now at the cost of the future, and many of us, in pleasant homes surrounded by trees, have never given one of them close attention, and in a grove cannot tell an oak from a maple, or an elm from an ash.
Any busy man will be repaid for a daily study of a tree, with close inspection of its bark, trunk and branches. It is a thing of life now just beginning to stir at the close of its winter sleep. Watch it. Note its moods; its habits, the miracle of its buds and shoots and leaves as the ardent sun draws them forth. Attend it functionally in spring, summer and autumn, and learn lessons from them.
And when you have become acquainted with an individual tree, learn to know its winged inhabitants, the birds that visit it and make their homes in its branches. Hear the man who awakens in the morning to the music of the birds, those unfailing optimists whose notes are all laden with cheer and joy—the robins, the catbirds, the redbirds, the orioles and the meadow larks. There is perpetual youth in their voices, inspiration, urge to good deeds. No man who loves trees and takes into his soul the songs of the birds is likely to go far wrong.

WHO'S WHO

In The Days News

ARCHBISHOP DENNIS J. DOUGHERTY

The report that Archbishop Dennis J. Dougherty of Philadelphia is to be raised to a cardinal has been confirmed by recent dispatches. He is to leave for Rome shortly to receive the honor. It will be the fifth American to enter the college of cardinals. The other four are Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, the primate of the Catholic church in America; Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, and the late Cardinals Farley and McCloskey of New York.
Archbishop Dougherty is noted as an administrator and organizer. He speaks twelve languages and dialects.
He was born in Girardville, in the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania, in 1857. He was made a bishop while serving as a professor in St. Charles seminary, Philadelphia.
He was sent to the Philippines in the early days of the American occupation and is said to have been the first American bishop on the islands. He remained on the islands ten years and then became head of the Buffalo, N. Y., diocese. He was raised to archbishop in 1918.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MONTYRE

NEW YORK, February 16.—It is amusing to watch the café crowds these days—and the proprietors too. The other night I sat back at a corner table in a modest price place, a little off the beaten path. Liquor is sold openly but there is a certain pretense at least at respect. Red wine was served in silver mugs, high balls out of ginger ale bottles and cocktails in demi-tasse cups. It was a place that made a specialty of ravogli and diet ulgon.
The patrons were middle class folk who voyaged forth for a "night off" perhaps once a week. The girls were young and giggly. The young men wore coats with tight sleeves that flared at the cuff. Now and then a stranger came, gave an order and the waiter shook his head. But usually the stranger would identify himself as "all right" and his desire was gratified.

Along about 9 o'clock the potency of the drinks are being manifested. Tables exchange conversation and perhaps join each other. Tiny Tim, wearing his black tam, comes in and explains the virtues of his tray of soul candy. Sometimes they abuse him and call his prattle bunk but he rarely misses a sale.
He invariably invites you to his studio parlor—a mere phantasmagoria he lives on a farm in New Jersey. By 11 o'clock the room is in a tip of "whirl." A pointing girl pounded the table and inquired if George was going to buy her that chicken sandwich. George has deserted her for a brunette in the other end of the room.

The proprietor flutters around like a wet hen. His problem is to get the crowds out before anything happens. There are constant bickerings over checks. The drinks are masqueraded as coffee at 75 cents a cup and it is difficult to explain to the befuddled, "Heavens, this booze tastes fresh. It must have been made this morning."

Wise Jettings
Only the sympathetic are entitled to sympathy.
No man need hope to reach heaven by walking over his neighbors.
Ever notice that there is nothing too good for the small boy who has a pretty grown up sister?
There would be but few mysteries in this world if people looked into everything as closely as a woman looks into a mirror.
The more one explains a man has to do the less has humanity to do with him.
When he casts his first vote a young man wonders how the world would manage to get along if he were to die.
So?
Boston millionaire was talking about masterful wives.
"Masterful wives," he said, "were in the minority heretofore, but with the coming of universal suffrage the majority of wives are getting pretty masterful."
"Believe me," he concluded, "it won't be only in his office that the husband of the future, when he starts to dictate, will be taken down."

Lines to Various Pets
Lie still, my little Horned Toad;
This dark, my feet are bare;
And if I were to step on you
The both of us would care.

No Jellyfish that ever jelled
Can equal you in beauty;
But what to feed you I don't know;
A bun? or fruit? or nut?

Chameleon, Chameleon,
Most marvelous to see,
I wonder, when you vote this fall,
What color you will be.

Come sing to me, fair Angle-Worm,
Of robins and of fish;
Or let some long-suppressed desire
Convey a lyric wish.

Dear Butterfly, don't flutter by!
The sugar-bowl pray occupy.
More frail and beautiful a pet
In all my days I've never met.
Nor one less costly to maintain.
What, gone so soon? Do come again!
—Vincent V. M. Neede in Courtrooms Magazine.

Erase the Wrinkles
Harry had been studying his grandfather's face, which was very much wrinkled.
"Well, Harry," said the old gentleman jocosely, "do you like my face?"
"Well, grandpa," said the boy, "it's an awfully nice face, but I was wondering if you couldn't have it ironed?"

Some System
"How do you figure what prices to charge?"
"We've always had it down to a system," replied the grocer. "Last year when sugar was 20, cranberries were 8, now when sugar is 8, cranberries are 20."

Good Enough For Him
"Would you marry a woman lawyer?"
"No, sir. The ordinary woman can cross-examine quite well enough."

Slight
"Did you ever taste moonshine whiskey?"
"Certainly not," replied Uncle Bill Bottleneck. "Anybody who can't swallow fast enough to keep from tastin' it has no business tryin' to drink it."

Fund Will Accumulate
A London publisher has bequeathed money to "help in the production of literary work of real value." One way to do that would be to suppress the other kind.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
